Comments: My parents built a family home in Lost Park up in Jefferson, CO. For a long time we have respected the land and loved the sport of shooting. Please do not take that away from us. There are folks out there that will not respect the land regardless of the regulations implemented. While I understand the concern for safety and reducing the risk of forest fires, I think that ultimately falls on being a smart shooter. I think current fire bans that further ban sport shooting in the dry season is already too much. Be smart, be safe, have fun.
