Comments: I have spent endless hours removing trash and other 'left items' from the national forest, but refuse to even attempt cleanup of these sites. By far the worst area in the region is FR343. I do use FR343 for target practice but despise the trash. However limiting this activity to specific areas is the best solution, i advocate limiting all target shooting activity to these locations and prohibiting it elsewhere. And honestly would monitor those locations for trashy behavior either by personnel or video. While i can hear the reports from the turkey track area i would prefer to have shooting concentrated there. I hike with my dog in the backcountry areas and do not like coming upon shooters in unregulated areas, my dog does look like a deer!
