Comments: I've used the outdoor shooting range by Goose Creek for years. I consider this a wonderful place to vent frustration and let some lead fly. We always police our brass, and take away a bucket of garbage with every trip. For those of us that suffer from PTSD, relieving stress is paramount in our treatment. Because it is two hours away, I am only able to visit about quarterly. Please consider that this is more than an annoyance to a small minority. Practicing judicious aim and trigger discipline is a good thing and requires practice.
