Data Submitted (UTC 11): 1/27/2021 1:33:48 PM
First name: GM
Last name: Bellanca
Organization:
Title:
Comments: Status of Tongass National Forest

Hello,

Has there been a halting of the road building, logging, and destruction of the Tongass National Forest now that the Biden administration has ordered a review of the Trump era plan?

Where can I find more information on current operations and plans? The USDA website just lists the lifting of the Roadless Rule.

I was at the Forest Service Washington, DC meeting held in 2019 during the comment period (forgot month, maybe Nov) and I was shocked by the brazenness and cruelty of the Trump, Perdue and Dunleavy plans for the Tongass and other wild places with the plans for logging and then end of the Roadless Rule.

I don't know what it will take for me to ever see the Forest Service as the good guys again, but restoring the Roadless Rules in the National Parks and protecting wild places would go a long way.

Thank you,
GM Bellanca
Lover of Untamed Forests, Clean Air and Water, and Wildlife

Sent from Mail for Windows 10