Comments: The plan to replace the Lenawee lift seems like an excellent move. Changing from a 3 passenger lift to a 4 passenger detachable lift is an excellent idea. There are many visitors who have difficulty on the existing lift. Having said this, we would seriously advise against moving to a 6 passenger lift. It has been our experience as older visitors to Breckenridge that these new large capacity lifts are more dangerous because of the need to line up 6 persons instead of 4. My wife was almost hurt in Breck because of one of these lifts. A-Basin has no demonstrated need to double the lift capacity on this lift. The designers of these lifts are not considering the difficulty of lining up 6 people. If any one of the six slips back, the lift has to be slowed down or stopped. This concept of 6 passenger lifts is not well thought out.
