Comments: I have lived in New Mexico for 30+ years as a child/adult. I also lived in Colorado 20 years where they do have a coaster at one of the ski resorts. It is a nice way to see nature and enjoy the mountains during good weather. It would bring more revenue to the area. I think with the money charged for the ride, a portion should go to the Forest Service for land maintenance. I would hope guidelines would have to be in place to protect wildlife. Unfortunately, more people means more opportunities to trash/destroy natural resources. I have hiked the La Luz Trail many times and there are risks as people enter wild areas and encounter wildlife. they don't take care of areas they visit. They need to understand to leave plant life and animals alone. It means more traffic/parking.
