Comments: Hi,

As a mountain biker who grew up learning to ride on these trails and now as an adult with one degree in Environmental and Sustainability Studies and getting one in Environmental Geoscience, I strongly oppose the project(s) being proposed. I am not opposed to forest management that removes dead logs that pose a threat of high severity fires but the methods being proposed are detrimental to the ecosystem and biking community. There are less invasive management tactics that can be employed. While they will most likely be more costly and timely they are necessary to preserve the unique trail system and the ecosystem it is in.

Thank you for reconsidering,

Sam Bagge
