Comments: To Whom It May Concern:

New Mexico does not need a roller coaster in the mountains. The Sandias are one of the greatest resources we have in the city- a true gift to all who visit and all who live here. In 2021, this public resource continues to serve many after being stripped from the original indigenous stewards. It would be a huge disservice to all who live in New Mexico to pollute the land with foot-traffic, plastic, cement and noise. Doing so would surely cause environmental degradation and harm to the home of the few animals left after decades of displacement and colonialism. New Mexico needs to focus on sustainable ways to protect the land we have.
