Comments: Although I am not of Pueblo descent I, like most morally sound human beings, can see very clearly that a roller coaster on a beautiful, sacred mountain is as about as idiotic and reckless an idea as I've ever heard. Please reconsider this idea. It will not only be an incredible eyesore to the area, but it will UNDOUBTEDLY disrupt the native flora and fauna on the mountain, and obviously impact the precious water sheds and serene, noise free beauty. Who do you all think you are to develop every last bit of this majestic earth with concrete and steel and plastic? What greater purpose are you even KIND OF serving by placing a literal amusement park on top of a natural landmark? There is no justification for this kind of clownery. Leave our natural spaces alone and find something less harmful to Indigenous peoples and the earth to do with your time.
