Comments: One of the most beautiful aspects of nature I get the privilege of enjoying every day is the Sandia mountains. The color and the scope of the mountains fills me and many photographers, painters, hikers, and visitors with awe- as seen in the many beautiful depictions of the sacred landmark. Adding a scar of more industrial tourist stuff to the landmark is not only in bad taste, but offensive to me as a life long resident of New Mexico. DON'T mar something good for a temporary tourist payoff.
