Comments: I cannot state strongly enough how opposed I am to this idea. It's akin to building an amusement park in the middle of a national park. A roller coaster can go somewhere else! Let the mountains be beautiful mountains, full of trees. We need those trees to provide us with oxygen so we can literally breathe. A roller coaster?? Seriously?

If these developers have money to waste on a roller coaster, how about building homes for unhoused people in albuquerque? how about helping out people who are suffering due to the global pandemic? how about fighting climate change? This whole idea is such a slap in the face and is totally out of alignment with the times we are living in.

NO ROLLER COASTER.
