Comments: As a hiker and user of the trails a the Sandia Mountains, I do not support this project at all. It makes no sense at all that something like this would be considered so just a few can enjoy a "thrilling" experience. The beauty and majesty of the Mountain is its natural views without "exotic man made railings". The people that do not visit the Mountain is because they are not interested, and if they change their minds, they would enjoy it more by walking on it and appreciating all it has to offer rather than a "rush" from riding a metal car.
