Comments: This project is ridiculous. First off, no one asked for this and the public was not consulted. Secondly, this land is sacred and was stolen from the Pueblos years ago and it is our responsibility to care for it and not inflict further pain on the land and the people that rely on it. The environmental impact of a project like this would be devastating and would disrupt wildlife of all forms. The traffic that an attraction like this would bring does not prioritize or even CONSIDER the consequences to the critters that call this mountain home. This project should not even be an option to consider. The Pueblos should have been consulted, the people who are directly affected by this should have been consulted. The entire idea is unnecessary and invasive. And once again, no one asked for this.
