Comments: The horse herds in this area are totally out of control. When you hike in the areas south of rt 260 there are places that are almost impossible to walk through without stepping all over their dung. In earlier days it was fun to come upon a small herd of horses, which was a rare sight. Now you see them everywhere and often all the areas they occupy are grazed off and you see far fewer Elk and Deer. Most of the herd needs to be eliminated. Modern horses are not native to America as Deer and Elk are and they need to be drastically reduced. Thanks.
