Comments: This project is proposing to build this "mountain coaster" where the environment and wildlife is already being impacted greatly. As an Environmental Specialist I believe that any project that takes place on a mountain, no matter the size, needs to have an environmental assessment and biological assessment done. You cannot start a project where infrastructure is going to be built on a national forest without these assessments and proper permits/licensing. To obtain proper permits and licenses EAs and BAs are usually standard requirements. The fact the you are trying to work around this already makes it a bad situation and looks bad on New Mexico.
