Comments: BLM is charged with protecting wild horses, not cattle. Yet, they want to reduce the Heber wild horse herd to 50 horses on 20,000 acres of public land while allowing thousands of cattle to graze on horse habitat. It is time for the BLM to follow the law in protecting wild horses and stop bending to the demands of cattle ranchers. These are public lands and as such, belong to the people of this country - not to the BLM or the cattle industry. The majority of Americans favor the protection of the wild horses who habituate public lands.
