

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 4/5/2021 9:45:05 PM

First name: Bryan

Last name: Hallman

Organization:

Title:

Comments: The destruction of the horses is a complete disaster. They are part of the ecosystem, not a nuisance. After the many who were shot by still unnamed and yet-to-be prosecuted parties, this further reduction of numbers by the government, seem totally unnecessary. For the long term sustainability of the herd, more than 50-104 head are required. Too close of inbreeding will lead to catastrophic birth defects, and the utter destruction of wild horses in Arizona.