

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 4/6/2021 2:07:41 AM

First name: Alice

Last name: Burkhart

Organization: Everything Fishy

Title:

Comments: I live in Texas.

Ranchers in Texas own and maintain their land. They don't need National Forest Service or BLM welfare to raise cattle. Reducing a herd of wild horses to 50 while allowing thousands of cattle that do far more damage to the grazing and ecosystem is not only bad management, it is a waste of my tax dollars.

If I wanted to donate to ranchers in the west that are looking for charity I'd personally write them a check. Since they drive a nicer truck than I do, I think that should go the other way around, and I make it a point to never buy beef raised anywhere but Texas, where we have ethics.

Please revise your plan and kick the cattle out, they aren't paying their way for the damage they do.