Comments: I have loved horses all my life. Literally, rode them in the mountains as a four-year-old. They are magnificent, intelligent, creatures, and a gorgeous part of our heritage. It does not make one bit of sense to me to give so much weight to the importance of cows, which translates as "money from meat", and so little benefit or importance to wild horses. Take a step back for a moment and look at what you are doing from a larger perspective: repeating the mistakes of so many past profiteers, who would rather have a fancy home and riches than the priceless regality of wild nature. Those of you with children who will outlive you...Do you really think that this is a wise legacy to leave for them and their descendants? Will we never stop doing things the wrong way? Have we learned nothing from the countless examples of greed and it's destruction and violation of nature? WHO PUT YOU IN CHARGE??? You are doing an incredibly lousy job at running things, and I will do all in my power to have your way of thinking annihilated!
