Comments: Hi,

I am a longtime friend of PNH.

I believe the USDA - Forest Service had very rigid demands for those who applied for permit to guide helicopter skiing services to the public.
In my mind, granting the permit to PNH involved so many factors some of which include:

*Having a proven track record in working with clients and those in the Cordova community.
*Having a sustaining business which attracts skiers world-wide.
*Having a safety record which includes being cognizant of client well-being plus the natural beauty of the Cordova Ranger District.

PNH will not take the use of the permit lightly. I know clients will look forward to exploring this otherwise inaccessible region of the Chugach National Forest. This opportunity will give a greater awareness and understanding of our national forest lands by being able to see and experience the Chugach in all its depth and beauty.

Respectfully Submitted,

David Sobolowski
