Comments: The FS should be working to diminish global warming. Grazing cattle should NOT be continued on our public lands. The FS should allow vacant allotments to be permanently closed and should protect Wilderness, other public lands, and wildlife by limiting, rather than increasing, inappropriate livestock grazing in National Forests.

This proposed Rangeland Management Directives fails to hold livestock grazers accountable by not setting proper standards to adequately monitor conditions on the ground, and it excludes the public from some grazing decision processes. If all this weren't bad enough, increased grazing would not only fuel livestock grazing's contribution to the climate and biodiversity crises, but runs directly counter to the Biden Administration's 30x30 land conservation agenda by sacrificing what could be protected lands to the commercial livestock industry.

The Forest Service must do the right thing for the survival of all life on earth - for Wilderness, other public lands, and wildlife by dropping its proposed Rangeland Management Directives.
