Comments: Drop the proposed changes, since they would wreak havoc on the wildernesses affected. There is already too much grazing in national lands, which promotes the slaughter of wildlife that threaten the grazing animals. Except for operations that are strictly, holistically managed and eco-friendly, all such grazing should be banned. We need to reintroduce the beavers and other environment friendly creatures in order to improve the soil, cleanse the streams, and promote real restoration of the patrimony we bequeath to our descendants.
