

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 4/16/2021 6:18:59 PM

First name: Maggie

Last name: Frazier

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Since Wilderness is supposed to be "untrammeled" - allowing livestock grazing in the Wilderness is sort of self defeating.

The 30 x 30 Land Conservations Agenda is far more important than any issues of livestock grazing. Perhaps its time for retirement of more grazing allotments. Only 3% of beef raised in this country come from our public lands, forests and, I guess, also from our Wilderness areas. I believe this country can get along on the other 97% at this time. We need untrammeled areas far more than beef - especially beef that we, the taxpayers have to subsidize in order for these livestock producers to exist. No more livestock grazing in Wilderness Areas.