Comments: As you consider how to update the rangeland management directives, I want to strongly urge you not to increase grazing activity in any National Forest Service or Wilderness lands. In fact, I find it surprising that anyone would think livestock grazing and the goals of the Forest Service are compatible.

I have spent a lot of time living in the western US, near Forest Service and Wilderness lands. I think it's extremely important not to compromise and sacrifice those places by allowing all the negative effects of grazing.

I beg you, as stewards of our dwindling wild places, to be true to the intent of Wilderness, especially, and that the "forest" in Forest Service be given priority as well.

Thank you.
