

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 4/16/2021 6:45:26 PM

First name: Mary

Last name: Parham

Organization:

Title:

Comments: In my opinion, the National Forests are not the appropriate place for livestock grazing. The livestock will degrade the land and send methane into the air. The forests are supposed to be for the people and wildlife, not the cows. The ranchers need to get off National Forest land asap. Enough destruction of forest land! National Forests belong to ALL the people and I, for one, would not expect to find an entire field of cows and their noxious aroma.