Comments: The purpose of federal lands is not to serve the financial needs of the few. Grazing of livestock on federal land is at odds with the idea of wilderness preservation... There is an intrinsic conflict of interest between for-profit grazing and the desire to preserve Wilderness character and the bio diversity necessary for healthy ecosystems.

The Forest Service must do the right thing for Wilderness, other public lands, and wildlife by dropping its proposed Rangeland Management Directives.

If the Forest Service wishes to amend its directives, the Forest Service must undertake a more comprehensive rulemaking process that complies with the National Environmental Policy Act.
