Data Submitted (UTC 11): 4/16/2021 7:46:25 PM
First name: Pete
Last name: Wilson
Organization:
Title:
Comments: it is long past the time to eliminate grazing rights to wilderness areas. Wilderness is for wild animals. This is not a hard to understand concept. Yet grazing has been allowed for years in wilderness areas. Humans are using and destroying so much wild land that we are essentially in conflict with the other life on this planet. The astonishingly small fees and lack of enforcement of grazing fees is another reason to remove wilderness areas from the ability of ranchers to utilize public land to the detriment of the animals and plants that are rightfully in the wild. The belief on the part of those adjacent to wilderness areas that they can with impunity use public and declared wild space for their own use must be changed and the way to do that is with enhanced enforcement of grazing restrictions for wilderness areas. This land is our gift to the future and posterity will judge us on our husbanding of wild spaces for the betterment of wildlife every where. Without wild spaces our lives are diminished by our inability to connect and understand the needs of the other inhabitants of this planet. Stop the destruction of wild spaces by human intervening in animals and plants right to exist in without interference in perpetuity.