Comments: It makes zero sense to start grazing on wilderness lands that have not been grazed in the past. This is just another of Trump's dirty tricks on his way out the door. Preexisting allotments should be phased out as was the original plan when the act was passed. We have committed to preserve between 30% and 50% of the environment in the service of species protection and to combat climate change. Grazing these lands is exactly the wrong thing to do in the face of humanity's existential crisis!
