Comments: Our public lands are being taken over by the cattle industry. Our native wildlife can't compete with them and devastating wildfires and drought anymore. We need to take back our public lands for us, the American citizen and our native species. The cattle industry has bought off legislators and other politicians to make our public lands their private pastures. Our forefathers knew enough to dedicate swaths of land to preserve and make permanent habitats for our natural resources and wildlife, not cows and sheep!
Everywhere you go on National Forest lands, Bureau of Land Management lands, Parks and Preserves, desert and grass lands …. you run into cattle and cow patties. I ride an ATV on back roads and am devastated by the lack of good forage, water resources and habitat loss over the last couple of decades. It is not right.
We need to support our range and open areas, parks and forests for what they were intended for, not greedy ranchers.
Please help bring back our forests and other lands for us, our wildlife and recreation. Not cheap hamburger!
