

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 4/17/2021 12:17:38 AM

First name: Denise

Last name: Inkel

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Good day, whatever changes that is done to administer the National Forests, one must not forget that we are intruders and we must respect the wilderness because it is a precious gift. There will never be enough measures taken to protect its. Our Native Nations have more experience and connection with the wilderness, when they obstruct actions that can destroy our Forests and wild animals we must listen and change our attitude. WILD ANIMALS MUST BE PROTECTED, our FORESTS MUST BE PROTECTED. the same goes for the insects that live there they have an important role in the balance of the forest's life. Some animals and insects are labeled as nuisance but it is wrong we must not interfere except to defend. Leave Nature in its original state and give the chance to the coming generations to enjoy these paradises.