

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 4/17/2021 1:12:24 AM

First name: Mary

Last name: Gershanoff

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Public lands are just that, public. That means they belong to all of us and our tax dollars support them. Wilderness means just that, wilderness, not land that is subject to trespassing by commercial interests. In both cases, the highest priority should be given to preserving the environment and its native species. This is especially urgent given the threat of climate change. We need to save all the native resources we can in order to benefit all of us, not just a few.