Data Submitted (UTC 11): 4/17/2021 6:23:12 AM
First name: Anne
Last name: Harrison
Organization:
Title:
Comments: I have long thought the practice of graging cattle on many public lands is detrimental to both land and waterways. In addition to using forrage important to wild life, cattle can pprecipitate erosion and contaminate headwaters of oour streams and rivers. these lands are better held for wildlife and as open space for limited controlled human visits .