

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 4/17/2021 12:07:16 PM

First name: Sandra

Last name: Nicht

Organization:

Title:

Comments: While grazing animals are part of a thriving natural ecosystem, the overgrazing by cattle farmers as well as the removal of wild grazers is NOT. Cattle, unless fenced or otherwise kept under constant control, can cause extensive damage to streams which DAMAGES the natural ecosystem. Returning natural predator/prey balance to our wild lands should be a priority.