I fail to understand why your focus is on cattle and other livestock grazing on our public lands. The important word here is "public" which means the land belongs to the American people not to cattle and livestock owners. Public land should support our precious and irreplaceable wildlife. As our climate changes and water levels continue to lessen, public lands will not be able to sustain additional use. We must preserve what we can and protect it also from fires.

Please re-think these proposals and make your decisions in favor of protecting our wildlife and public lands and nearby forests. Thank you.
