Comments: These horses have lived in this area for over a century. They have been able to survive and thrive. Wild horses are an iconic part of the American West. To manage herds of wild horses, it has been proven that PZP birth control is effective, and the need to remove the horses is unnecessary. The Salt River wild horses are successfully managed this way. Instead of the normal 150 foals last season, there were 15. The mares happened to be pregnant at the time they were darted.

These wild horses are a part of the history of Heber and are protected under a 2005 federal law.

Thank you for listening.
