Comments: Sir or Madam, I have been following the fate of wild horses in this country for many years. I am nearly 70 and had been a horse person since youth. I am writing in support of this unique isolate herd to say please do not attempt to interfere with the health and well being they now enjoy. Horse herds are complicated structures that are destroyed by interference from man and have an innate way of controlling their numbers without our interference.

Leaving them to endure as they have will guarantee their survival and maintain the health of the land they legally occupy.

Please give them the gift of healthful joyful survival by letting them be!
