Comments: I am writing today to add my voice, and my prayers, that every effort will be made to save all of the wild horses in the Apache-Sitgreaves National Forest in Heber, Arizona.

I am an animal lover, and also a PhD member of the Oxford Centre for Animal Ethics. I believe it is every human's fundamental responsibility to prioritize the care of God's creatures. This priority is above economic or political interests, and the wild horses should receive every aid we humans can offer them to thrive were they are. I support every effort the ISPMB is making to help them. Please do the same.
