Comments: Thank you for taking the time to be responsible and start taking action to manage these horses in a sustainable way. I think it's important to manage these horses in a manner that removes excess animals to prevent non-invasive species of wildlife from losing grazing land and their natural habitats. It's important that people recognize the habitat destruction and erosion that excessive wild horses can cause. So thank you for taking the time to thin numbers but still preserve a good number of the herd that will preserve the sustainability and health of our forests and all the other creatures that make these areas their home!
