Comments: I am following the Heber wild horses on Facebook. From other herds that I follow, PZP is working well to prevent too many foals and allows the herds to grow smaller in number. It also makes removal unnecessary, which is financially unfeasible and extremely cruel.
There are many people enjoying the mustangs and follow their life's online and some even travel to visit those areas. The mustangs are an important part of this country's history and deserve to be treated with respect. Mustangs have a role to play in nature and we should carefully consider major changes how drastic changes will affect the environment and not just consider commercial interests.
