Comments: I object to this project. More parking will give more access to this already dangerous and overrun beautiful area. People will still try to swim in Tamolitch no matter what you do, so restricting access however you're planning to do it simply will not work. A nice big parking area is a bad idea. Try doing self issued permits first, have a ranger or even volunteers check people on the trail. Give warnings and eventually fines. No parking lot. No restricting access to the actual pool. People are dumb and WILL find a way down there and potentially will injure themselves worse than usual. I'm an ICU nurse;I deal with really dumb people a lot.
