Comments: I live in Bishop, and our economy relies heavily on tourism, including people who come here to fish. Fishing is so important to us, Opening Day for fishing is considered a major local holiday. Many of our businesses decorate for Fishmas and celebrate its arrival. Any mining exploration or mining that threatens our groundwater or fish hatchery also endangers our livelihood. This project does not qualify for any environmental impact exemption. Its proximity to the hatchery, the water required for exploration, and the dust and light pollution generated are just a few of the impacts the project would have on the area.
