Comments: This is a popular tourist destination for many that come to the mammoth lakes / eastern sierras
To allow this and all the damage and destruction rested by the actual mining and more so from the support and logistics required to operate this type of mining would be irreversible and ruin that entire areas. This makes no sense when there has been little proof to do any value to be gained by ruining this nationally know landmark and tourist destination. There would also be a heavy draw on the water supply to support this operation and the run off and waste would ruin the water ways.

The hot springs are part of the draw to this area for many.

Keep big money out of the beautiful location.
