Comments: Many areas around our sand dunes are unenjoyable by non-ATV users. The current noise levels from ATVs discourage people from using the areas for quieter recreational activities. The Forest Service receives most complaints for 99 decibels or louder - but those are just official complaints that are actually filed. It doesn't include the campers, hikers, beach combers, or picnickers that are subjected to unpleasant levels of noise already - but feel they are powerless to change it (and therefore do not try to take action).

Please do not disturb these quiet recreationers any more.
