A hikers was injured last week by reckless bikers in the Moab district of the forest. Brian Murdock has the details. The incident was a near death as the hiker was down in front of the biker with no escape except an emergency stop.

The congestion due to excessive bikers in the Moab area needs to be addressed in the forest plan. We need a reservation system paid for by the bikers. Horses, deer and elk all have been dislocated from the bike trails and we will probably hurt or kill a hiker in the future.
