Comments: As a full time resident within earshot of the Oregon Dunes Rec area, I strongly disagree with raising the sound level to accommodate a lack of effort on the ATV and enforcement community to reduce the noise created. ATV's should be allowed in the dunes but if the noise level is raised then the noise pollution will raise as well. It is my experience, as a rider, that the sound level threshold is ignored already so increasing it will just make things worse. Hold riders/manufacturers accountable for meeting the current sound limit. There are absolutely ways to mitigate exhaust noise without major performance sacrifices. Local residents deserve a break also...
