Comments: This is such a great way to maximize existing terrain and is so in line with the trends in the industry. Big Sky Resort in Montana recently replaced a 4-person chair with an 8-person chair, this one also originating in the base area providing access to the greater mountain acreage. The results were so positive that this summer the resort is replacing the other 4-person chair that also originates in the base area with a second 8-person chair. This proposed updated 6-pack chair at Meadows would efficiently move visitors out of the base area and spread them out into the available acreage making for a great visitor experience. I definitely support this!
