Comments: Hello there, I am writing to ask that you please protect our remaining population of marbled murrelets by upgrading them from threatened to endangered status. As stewards of this land we must take action to conserve their habitats before it's too late. As an Oregonian and wildlife advocate, I strongly urge you to please consider the fate of this charming bird, as each native species is important to maintaining the biodiversity of our landscape and plays a critical role in its ecosystem. Please, take this opportunity to give this species the protections it needs. Their fate is largely up to us. Thank you. -Rachael Rappoport
