Comments: This would be terrible for the exceptionally wonderful place that is the red river gorge. It's our refuge. The eastern part of this country is so dense, do not take this small parcel of wild from us. We love it, and any development in the area, beyond local establishments, will be met with zero support and open boycotts. The quickest way to make this area unprofitable and undesirable for everyone involved, is to develop it and restrict the wilderness we so dearly love about it.
