

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 7/27/2021 8:51:19 PM

First name: Todd

Last name: Friddle

Organization:

Title:

Comments: It is extremely important that we practice sustainable forestry management. We have failed to practice selective cutting throughout our National Forest land. Not only is this critical to the health and productivity of the timber but is extremely important to the ecosystem. Let's follow the science and start practicing forestry management for our future generations.