Maintain existing old-growth stands and nurture new ones.

Do selective tree removal. No one wants logging. Removing selectively may be more difficult, time-consuming and costly but the Forest Service manages these lands for the people, not the timber industry. Do NOT spray swathes of herbicides in our forests!

View these forests with an eye toward making them healthy and ready to withstand the climate change problems that are here now and will be coming. Maintain migration corridors for plants and animals. These forests are the best climate buffers we have.

No roads in wilderness areas!! No excuses!

I want the native plants and trees we now have to be allowed to grow and flourish. Wouldn't it be something if gorgeous, diverse, old-growth forests were the goal. This State would have something to be proud of. It would be so nice to be a leader in forest nourishment instead of the most logs produced.
